

ESCROW AND TAXES

Property Taxes

Homeowners pay property taxes to their appropriate assessment, collection or franchise tax department in each county. A change in ownership or the completion of new construction could result in a change in the assessed value of the property and may result in the issuance of a supplemental property tax bill. Taxes are due on predesignated dates and become delinquent when not paid. Penalties are assessed for delinquent taxes. The yearly "tax calendar" varies by state. In addition to standard property taxes, many jurisdictions also contain special assessment districts, which may have been formed as a means of financing infrastructure. Bonds may have been sold to finance the infrastructure and the ultimate property owner continues to make payments on the principal and interest on the bond. The bond issues vary in size and term. Other special city and county districts may be assessed for a variety of purposes, including street lights and traffic signals, street maintenance, certain educational purposes, etc.

Transfer Taxes

Transfer Tax, often called Real Property Transfer Tax, is a tax collected by the County Recorder when an interest in real property is conveyed. It is paid at the time of recording, and is computed using the actual sales price. An amount, legislated by the state or county, is charged per $500 or $1,000 of the sales price. Although it is common for the seller to pay this tax, in some areas tradition dictates that the buyer and seller will split the payment.

Many cities have levied an additional tax within their jurisdictions. In some counties, these taxes are collected by the County Recorder along with county transfer tax, but in other areas a separate check will be mailed to the city. Your escrow officer is familiar with the taxes required and will coordinate payment of the appropriate amount.

Withholding Requirements (California)

Some states, such as California, require that certain sellers "prepay" their required state taxes through withholding of a percentage of the sale proceeds. State law requires that the buyer accomplish the withholding, and he/she may be subject to penalties for failure to withhold and send the appropriate amount to the State Franchise Tax Board. However, the buyer may delegate this responsibility to the escrow holder, and the escrow holder may charge a fee for this service. The law requires the escrow agent to give written notice of the withholding requirement to the buyer. Most sellers will qualify for an exemption to the withholding law. Here are some of the exemption situations:

- Principal residence
- Property that is part of a like-kind exchange
- Properties under $100,000
- Sales that result in zero gain or loss for state tax purposes
- Property owned by certain corporations and partnerships
- Property ownership by tax-exempt entities

The escrow holder will provide a state withholding form to the seller to help determine if any of the exemptions apply. The withholding guidelines can seem quite complex, but your escrow officer has forms and educational materials to help educate your clients. Further information is also available through your local Franchise or Tax Board or from the American Land Title Association.
